

Tornado Sweeps Through Bay

For the second time in two months, a tornado swept through Bay St. Louis Sunday night, causing an estimated $31,500 in property damage.

The first report of the twister touching down in Bay St. Louis came at 6:45 p.m. Sunday when the tornado roared across the rear portion of the Charles A. Thomas residence on North Beach Blvd.

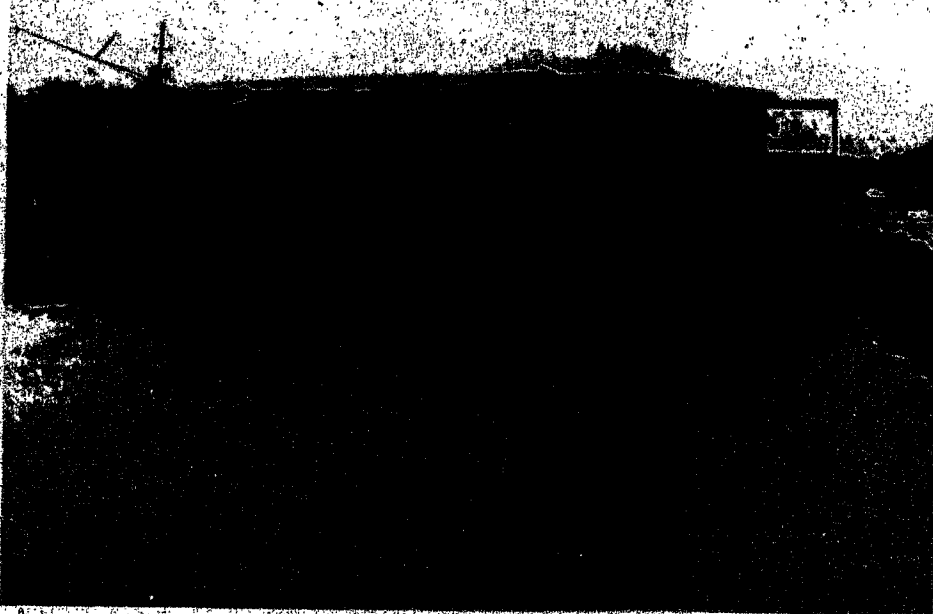

Apparently traveling in a northeasterly direction, the disturbance, accompanied by heavy rainfall, inflicted damage to several other beach road homes before it swept across the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, tossing sailboats in all directions.

Bay Police Chief Bill Carbone and two members of his department on the beach road watched the tornado turn into a waterspout as it whirled across the Bay of St. Louis toward the De Lisle community. Carbone later said it was the largest and most intense waterspout he had ever witnessed in all his years on Gulf Coast waters.

A Civil Defense report Monday presented the above estimated damage figure, covering 12 homes, the Yacht Club and several boats moored in the Yacht Club harbor.

Electrical service to the North Bay area was interrupted for several hours Sunday night when power and telephone lines and poles were downed by the tornado. Hancock sheriff's department personnel assisted Bay police in restricting traffic to the damaged area where live wires presented hazardous conditions.

Upturn Contractor Arrested By FBI

Kenneth T. Roberts, Waveland contractor, was arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents at Gulfport Monday on charges of fraud against the government, it was announced by Elmer F. Lindberg, special agent in charge of the Jackson Division of the FBI.

Roberts was arrested on a federal complaint filed before United States Magistrate William M. Rainey at Gulfport, which charged Roberts with making false statements or certifications to the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development in connection with Operation

Upturn contracts in Bay St. Louis.

The 38-year-old contractor was accepted on the Bay Operation Upturn preferred contractors list in July 1970, making him eligible to contract for residential rehabilitation work under the Certified Area Program. Roberts performed work on a number of homes in the Bay St. Louis area until he was taken off the list in January 1971. He was also included on the Pass Christian Operation Upturn contractors list.

According to FBI agents in Gulfport, Roberts faces three counts of allegedly certifying to HUD that there were no outstanding bills owed on contracts he received through the Bay Upturn office.

Roberts appeared before U.S. Magistrate Rainey in Gulfport Monday and was released on a $1,000 bond, pending a hearing.

Board Considering Pay Raise For City Teachers

An adjusted pay scale for teachers in Bay St. Louis city schools, as well as office and maintenance personnel, for the coming year, were presented by school superintendent Joe McCulloch at Monday's meeting of the city school board.

The salary scale for teachers has been established according to a minimum salary scale set by the State Department of Education, establishing a base wage according to six classifications of certification.

Although the state and local scales show minimum wages for each classification from AAA to E, McCulloch said recent state legislation stipulated that no teacher holding less than an A certificate may be employed in Mississippi.

A decision on McCulloch's recommendation for an increase in teachers' salaries was tabled by the board for further consideration at a special meeting Monday night.

Three new faculty members for the school system were approved by members of the Board of Trustees.

McCulloch presented resumes for the three teachers to be added to the teaching staff at the elementary level for the 1972-73 school year. The following were approved by the board: Miss Portia Ann Johnson, a Pass Christian resident, will be graduated in June 1972 from Alcorn A. & M. College with a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education; Mrs. Christine E. T. Thomann, Picayune, Miss., a 1970 graduate of Kansas University, Lawrence, Kas., with a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education; Mrs. Mary K. Wilbourn, Clinton, Miss., was graduated from Mississippi College, Clinton, in 1970 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education.

In other business, the board reviewed and approved unanimously the claims docket for the month of April.

Scout Drive Entering Final Phase

The local Scout Camp Fund Drive is going very well according to Norton Haas Sr., Hancock County chairman.

The drive is being held to provide funds for the construction of the Vee-Bar Ranch, a sprawling 1500-acre scout facility in Hancock County. "Our goal is $25,000 and we hope to exceed this even though our campaign is coming to an end," Haas said.

Haas said that he was now ready to move into the final phase of the drive, the Pelican Division. He explained that individuals who think scouting is a wonderful opportunity for any child can "purchase" an acre of land for $180. This can be worked out on a "time-payment" basis with the buyer paying $5 a month for three years.

"We need the support of everyone in Hancock County," concluded Haas. "Anyone wishing to make a contribution can do so by mailing it to Haas, P.O. Box 6, Bay St. Louis; or by calling him at 467-6574."

NASA Officials Complain About Sanitary Land Fill

County supervisors met with officials of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and state health department, as well as Mayor William Frisbie, Monday to discuss the problematic county sanitary land fill.

NASA officials at the Mississippi Test Facility have complained to the board of supervisors about conditions at the present land fill, situated within the buffer zone near Bayou Lacrosse.

William Matkin, C.O.E. official in charge of NASA's land lease division, told supervisors that he had inspected the present land fill and that it was "in a deplorable condition". Matkin said that NASA would cooperate with the board to find a suitable site on which to relocate the land fill, as long as "it was within reason".

Board president Dolph Keller said that another location for the land fill was being sought, but that it was too far from the coast to be feasible.

Jack McMillan, representative of the State Board of Health in Jackson, contended that the major problem with the present site is a lack of trained supervisory personnel to maintain the land fill and that under existing conditions it has become a dump, rather than a sanitary land fill.

McMillan offered to come to Hancock County and work with supervisors in order to rectify the situation.

McMillan outlined a plan for maintaining the land fill at the present site as well as offered suggestions for an upgraded system to satisfy the requirements of all agencies.

He suggested hiring a full-time land fill superintendent and said he would take the man to a sanitary land fill located in the Biloxi area, which he described as a model operation. Other suggestions were that the superintendent have "only one boss", to provide separate garbage and refuse sections; the erection of a fence around the area to prevent indiscriminate dumping; and a small structure be erected on the site for shelter in inclement weather.

Dr. Lewis Jobe, Jr., Director of the County Health Department, said that properly operated the land fill would pose no health problems. He, too, praised the Biloxi fill, which he said was operated jointly by the county and city on a 50-50 cost basis.

Bay St. Louis Commissioners William Frisbie and Andre Arceneaux expressed concern over additional cost of such an operation. Frisbie said he endorsed the idea of the land fill remaining under the jurisdiction of the county but felt that the suggested operation would cost considerably more than the $200 per acre now contributed by the cities of Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

Charicery clerk John Rutherford stated that the land fill in question now costs the county $4,600 annually. McMillan said that an operation such as he had described should not cost any more than the present fill, and possibly less.

The problem of hitting the water table with a two to three foot excavation was brought for discussion by Emile Manier, who said that he was particularly familiar with the site. Even a shallow excavation to bury refuse would produce water, Manier insisted, as there is a branch running through the property.

If this were found to be so, McMillan answered, the site would have to be abandoned immediately, according to State Air and Water Pollution Commission officials.

Mayor Frisbie, Keller and Waveland Alderman Duffa Bourgeois were agreeable to the plan for the improved operation.

Board Ratifies Resolutions

County supervisors approved three resolutions submitted for approval by the Port and Harbor Commission and questioned a fourth at a Monday meeting.

The board ratified a resolution to enter into an agreement with Humble Oil and Refining Company to furnish equipment and aviation fuel to Gulf Central-Stennis Field.

Unanimous approval was given to a Port and Harbor resolution to allow the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs to drill a shallow core well in the industrial park, in order to establish the shallow subsurface geology of the coastal area. The resolution stipulated that the well may not exceed 250 feet depth and that the drill hole be refilled at the completion of research efforts.

A resolution was resubmitted to cancel the contract for engineering services with Michael Baker, Jr., Inc. with a clause granting the firm the right to complete the contract for construction of the airport administration building.

The resolution was ratified by a four to one vote with board president Dolph Keller dissenting. Keller said he felt it would be a mistake to change engineers at this point in the Port development as Michael Baker had already completed a survey and engineering plans for future development of the industrial park. Another engineering contract Keller maintained, would only be a duplication of service.

In other business, the board took issue to a commission action for an intended transfer of $53,000 from the Reserve Construction Fund to the P & H Construction fund, questioning the source of the transferred funds. The matter was tabled for consideration pending clarification by the commission at the next meeting.

Reconstruction Work Planned For Highway

Mississippi Highway 43 in Hancock County between Interstate 10 and the junction of Mississippi Highway 603 north of Kiln is scheduled to be let to reconstruction contract this month.

According to Highway Commissioner W.H. "Shag" Pyron, bids will be opened May 23 in Jackson by the Mississippi State Highway Department and a contract awarded to upgrade that section of 43 north of I-10.

He reminded that the stretch south of the Interstate was reconstructed nearly four years ago and that with the completion of this month's contract Highway 43 will have been widened and resurfaced from U.S. Highway 90 in Waveland to Highway 603 at Kiln.

The section to be widened and resurfaced under the May 23 contract will measure 5.757 miles. The riding surface width will be increased to 24 feet and overlaid with hot-mix asphalt; the finished product will conform to top primary highway standards.

Hattiesburg's Sixth District engineers will coordinate State Highway Department construction plans with the successful bidder. Project engineer C.D. Caraway and his project force will supervise actual construction.

SEMINAR

Mrs. Lois Morgan and Mrs. Margaret Shadoin of Hancock Ins. Agency, Bay St. Louis, will attend the Mississippi Association of Insurance Agents' In-Depth Seminar on the "Care & Feeding of Commercial Accounts," according to Asa Bryant, Jr., Hattiesburg, Chairman.

The meeting will be held May 16-17 at LeFleur's Convention Center in Jackson, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

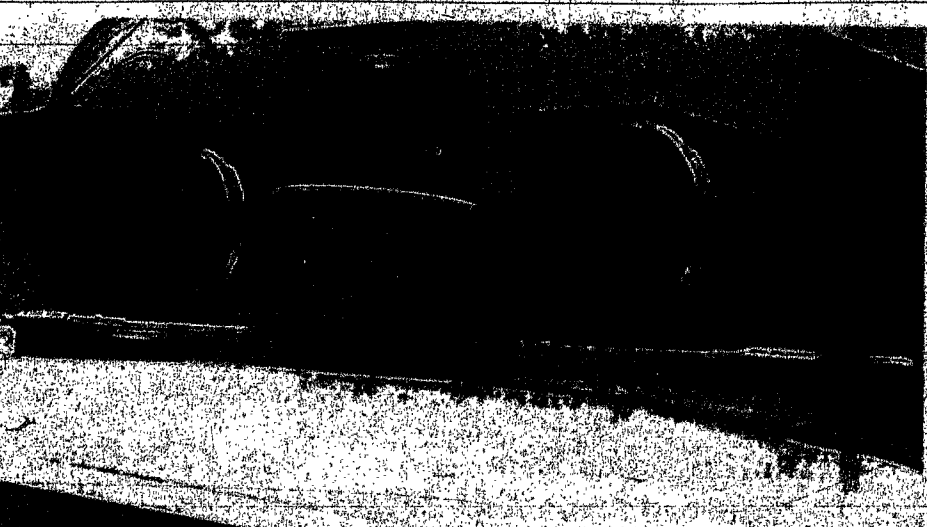

Featured on the program will be Stan Rosenthal, CPCU, New Orleans, La.; Bill Tucker, Tupelo, Employers Ins. of Wausau; Billy Sampson, Jackson, F.W. Williams; Curtis Denton, Hattiesburg; Jim Williams, Gulfport; H. C. "Bunk" Roberts, Canton; and Harris Holland, Columbus.

Citizens Urged To Use Free Marking Tools

What's free, vibrates 7,200 times a minute and keeps burglars away from your home?

Answer: An engraving tool, that Hancock County Law Enforcement Agencies are loaning out to persons of the county, to mark their valuables permanently and to deter burglars.

The Bay St. Louis Rotary Club and The Law Enforcement Agencies in Hancock County will loan any person the electric marking tool and a detailed inventory sheet to list their valuables after being marked with their Social Security number.

According to Gus Uram, chairman of this project, many people would like to mark their possessions but for some reason or other keep putting it off. "There are reliable statistics that where people have taken advantage of identifying their valuables the number of burglaries has declined," Uram said.

POLICE REPORTS

SHERIFFS REPORTS

Two Alabama men were arrested early Saturday morning by sheriff's deputies on Highway 90 and charged with driving while intoxicated and possession of marijuana.

Deputy sheriffs Glen Dorr and Willie Leestopped Albert L. Lynn, 25, and Farnet L. Mantel, 25, as they drove erratically and recklessly on the highway about 7 a.m. Saturday.

The two men gave their addresses as 6001 Veteran's Highway, Metairie, although Sheriff Sylvan Ladine said they carried Alabama drivers licenses.

Lynn was booked in the county jail and charged with public drunkenness and possession of marijuana, under a $1,500 bond. Mantel was charged with driving while intoxicated, possession of marijuana and carrying a concealed weapon. His bond was set at $2,150.

Both men were later released on bond and are pending a hearing.

The Bay St. Louis police department responded to 52 calls in the week of May 8-9.

Bay police apprehended two runaway juveniles May 8 at the intersection of Highway 90 and Main St. The 13 and 15-year-old boys had run away from their homes in Waggaman, La., according to Chief Bill Carbonette. Jefferson Parish authorities were notified and the youths held at the County Youth Center pending their arrival.

Two stereo tape players were stolen Saturday in separate incidents. One of the tape decks was stolen from an automobile belonging to Dennis Barbone, at 314 Duman Ave., and the other tape deck taken from a Ford Mustang parked by the Ray Royale Apts., according to a report from Shree Millam, owner of the automobile. Chief Carbonette and Aux. Chief Harold Heine are investigating both incidents.

Signs have been erected on the highway within city limits warning motorists of a radar control speed system soon to go into effect in Bay St. Louis. Carbonette said that speed limit violators will be prosecuted as well as all automobiles with expired license plates and brake tags. Road blocks have been set up, Carbonette stated, and violators will be ticketed.

Bay police assisted fire department personnel with traffic control in five fire calls during the past week.

ARRIVES FOR DUTY

Why Stop Now?

Citizens Should Ask For Upturn Investigation

Bay St. Louis and Waveland citizens have been complaining about Operation Upturn since its inception after Hurricane Camille.

Lack of understanding was the reason for many of the complaints but more often than not, the criticism was justified. Tuesday, the FBI arrested a contractor who worked for both the Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis Upturn offices. Kenneth Roberts has been charged with fraud against the Federal government, more specifically the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the administrative agency for the Upturn programs (IAP-CAP).

Perhaps now would be the time for the people to ask for a thorough investigation of both the Waveland and Bay St. Louis programs—what was planned and what has been done. In fact, it would benefit the administrators, both past and present if this were done. If there is nothing to hide, a complete investigation would clear the air and possibly convince the people that Upturn was benefitting the communities.

Service Groups Will Be Honored

For many years the citizens of Mississippi, as well as the nation, have been served quietly and effectively by service organizations, whose members promote programs conceived through altruistic instincts and designed to benefit their fellow man.

Inspired by the work of these organizations and struck with the realization that the general public is often not fully aware of their contributions, the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission has sponsored a proclamation endorsed by Governor William L. Waller.

The proclamation designates May 14 through May 20 as Mississippi Citizen Involvement Week, during which organizations such as Rotary, Kiwanis, Jaycees, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Auxiliary and many others are to be recognized and lauded by the communities they serve.

A high point of this first commemorative week will be a banquet May 19, honoring leaders of civic and service organizations in the coast area.

Our readers write

Dear Sir:

Reference your editorial, dated May 4, 1972, "A View-From The Other Side" - What is A Hospital?

Indeed what is a hospital? It is a place with a heart, especially our Hancock General Hospital.

Having been a recent patient with major surgery, I cannot praise enough the administrator, our wonderful doctors, hospital staff, the nurses, LPN, RN, aids, etc., etc. for the wonderful care I was given. They show genuine concern, they have a heart. May I thank them all and please, Mr. Editor, may I please say THANK YOU to all my friends for their cards, gifts, but most of all for their prayers.

Indeed, what is a hospital? — HANCOCK COUNTY! Count your blessings for having at your disposal this wonderful hospital.

Ons R. Costello

Dear Sir:

This letter is really to the residents of "My Town", Waveland, Miss.

I have always heard the expression, "always put on your best face when meeting strangers."

It is also known that a stranger will form an opinion of what you will be like, based on the appearance of your front yard and porch, before meeting you. This is the first face you have presented to your visitor.

It would seem logical then to assume that visitors to "Our Town" form their opinion of its residents by the appearance of our streets, yards, homes and our lovely beaches. This is the face of "Our Town".

In line with that thought, I cannot understand anyone, who has pride in and loves his town, littering its face with beer cans, paper bags and cups, bottles, sacks of garbage, etc. I think it behooves each of us to ask ourselves the question, "Is this the way I want my town to look?" If the answer is "no" then the next steps are all too obvious.

Social Security Information

People with information about substandard conditions in nursing homes can report such deficiencies to any social security office, according to Mrs. Anne E. Anderson, representative of the Gulfport social security office.

"Social security offices have been designated as 'nursing home listening posts,'" Mrs. Anderson said. "Complaints or suggestions about poor-quality care, neglect, or unsanitary or unsafe conditions in nursing homes may be reported to us by phone, mail, or in person. If desired, the name of the person making the complaint and the name of the nursing home patient will be kept confidential. We'll pass the information on for action by the appropriate Federal, State, or local authorities."

The Gulfport social security office is located at 6015 Pass Road. The telephone number is 864-1323.

Are you satisfied with the amount of your income today? No, this is not a commercial for any school or study course; it is only a short comparison of incomes, then and now—and perhaps a reminder that you don't know when you're well off.

Recently we happened upon an old publication called DeBow's Review, a commercial journal published in this State in the mid-1800's, and in it is given a complete report of the costs and profit of the first year of operation in Jackson of the Pearl River Cotton Mills. The time was 1858, and this is what workers got in those days:

"The actual daily expenditures of the cotton manufacturing of $30,000 capital: 9 men—75 cents per day—$6.75. 20 boys—40 cents per day—$8.00. 26 girls—50 cents per day—$13.00. 1 spinner—$2.00. 1 weaver—$2.00. 1 superintendent—$3.75. 1 fireman—$1.00. 1 watchman—75 cents." Does that make your paycheck seem bigger?

And here are the other costs of operation: "4 cords of wood—$1.75 per cord—$7.00. 1 1/2 gals. of oil—$1.25 per gal—$1.87. Incidental expenses—$1.00. 2 men for different work—$1.50 each—$3.00. 115 lbs. of cotton at 6 cents per pound—$6.90. 300 lbs. wool—18 cents—$54.00. Loss in wasted—$9.00. Interest on $30,000—$3.67. Insurance—$1.67. Board for 45 negro hands, 20 cents each—$9.00. Board for 7 white hands, 30 cents each—$2.10. Total—$200.86."

The daily sales of the mill were: 2161 yards osanburgs, 0 cents per yd.—$194.40. 300 yds. linseys, 25 cents per yd.—$75.00. Total $269.40.

The profits were: daily profit—$68.40. Yearly profit of 313 working days—$21,429.02, or 85 percent net profit on the capital investment.

It is interesting to note that 45 negroes were employed; undoubtedly these were slaves; and there is no record of wage payments to them. But there were also 7 white hands; were they included in the employees listed above, in which case their board would have to be added to the listed wages? The use of child labor was an accepted fact in those days, and one must shudder at the thought of 46 boys and girls working, probably a nine or ten hour day and six days a week, for $2.40 or $3.00. Today that wouldn't buy the girls' cosmetics! The price of the raw cotton is also interesting, as today the mill would be paying six or seven times what it paid a hundred years ago. Another oddity is that this was the only cotton mill in Jackson at that time; one would think that with a 65 percent net profit more mills would have been there to mop up the gravy!

And one also wonders how a man could support a family on 75 cents a day. With labor getting from ten to fifteen times that amount and still complaining and striking for higher wages, times surely have changed! And it also must be remembered that in the 1850's the 75-cent-a-day man had to pay a poll tax of $5.00 yearly and $1 if he had a horse.

That take-home pay of yours looks a little better now, doesn't it?

Home Ec Notes

The Mississippi Cookbook will be released through the office of the Home Economist in Hancock County on May 15th.

Over a year in preparation, THE MISSISSIPPI COOKBOOK is the result of contributions of over 7,000 recipes by Mississippi women from 78 of the 82 counties. Dr. Marilyn Purdie and her administrative staff at the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service selected 1,078 recipes and these appear in THE MISSISSIPPI COOKBOOK. Local women who have one or more recipes are as follows: Mrs. Henry Shiller, Mrs. Edward LeVasseur, Mrs. K. T. Breland, Mrs. Pat Rutherford, Mrs. J. D. Williams, Mrs. Tony Benigno, Mrs. David Walwright and Mrs. Jack Whitney.

THE MISSISSIPPI COOKBOOK, 488 pages in length, with a hardbound washable cover and a four color jacket, is a collection of the most popular recipes enjoyed in Mississippi. It is the first effort at a comprehensive cookbook representing the culinary heritage of Mississippi people. The recipes were especially chosen to represent "Mississippi Cooking" at its best.

An interesting feature of the book is the historical data given about some of the recipes or the occasion on which they are served. An example is the annual roast wild duck dinner given by Mr. David Coleman of Yazoo City. Not only is Mr. Coleman's wild duck recipe given but also an interesting account of how this occasion grew from a small group of twenty to the 600 or more people who now attend.

Another interesting feature of the book is a special section called Mansion Favorites. This is a collection of the favorite recipes of seven former First Ladies of Mississippi. Recipes were contributed by Mrs. Theodore G. Bilbo, Mrs. Mike Conner, Mrs. Fielding Wright, Mrs. J. P. Coleman, Mrs. Ross Barnett, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Jr., and Mrs. John Bell Williams.

There are 24 chapters in THE MISSISSIPPI COOKBOOK ranging from appetizers to desserts with chapter headings illustrations by Miss Lucille Parker, Head of the Art Department of Judson College, Marion, Alabama. The book and jacket were designed by Barney McKee, Assistant Director of the University and College Press. There is a special chapter on Outdoor cooking which should be of special interest to men. An appendix section gives the latest technical data related to cooking and a complete index provides clear instructions on where in the book to find a certain recipe.

THE MISSISSIPPI COOKBOOK is a publication of the University and College Press, a non-profit publishing organization owned by the three-state-owned universities and five colleges. THE MISSISSIPPI COOKBOOK is sponsored by the Home Economics division of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

COPIES OF THE MISSISSIPPI COOKBOOK may be secured through the County Home Economist in the Agricultural Center Building, Neshoba Ave., Bay St. Louis, or directly from the University and College Press of Mississippi (Southern Station, Box 5164, Hattiesburg, Mississippi 39401). A special pre-publication discount price of $6.25 (which includes 30 cents tax per copy) is being offered on all orders received on or before June 1, 1972. Thereafter the book may be purchased through bookstores and department stores and directly from the publisher at $7.95 (which includes 35 cents per copy).

IN THIS WORLD

A QUESTION SO MANY MOTHERS HAVE ASKED OVER THE LAST 40 YEARS: "WAS MY BABY LOOKS LIKE THE GERBER BABY?"

WORLD'S MOST FAMOUS BABY

ORIGINATED IN 1928 AS A CHARCOAL SKETCH, SUBMITTED BY THE LATE DOROTHY HOPE SMITH, AN ARTIST OF THAT PERIOD.

WHEN THE SKETCH, CHOSEN OVER MANY FINE ARTIST PAINTINGS IN AN ADVERTISING COMPETITION, FIRST APPEARED IN PRINT OVER 40 YEARS AGO, PUBLIC CLAMOR FOR COPIES OF IT PROMPTED ITS ADOPTION AS ONE OF THE WORLD'S FAMOUS TRADE MARKS. AS THE GERBER BABY, AT THE REQUEST OF THE FAMILY, THE BABY'S IDENTITY IS NOT GENERALLY KNOWN, BUT IT HAS BECOME SYMBOLIC OF ALL BABIES, BOYS AND GIRLS.

PASTURE FERTILIZATION

You can increase your farm income handily by fertilizing your permanent summer grass pastures and making sure that you have enough cattle to fully utilize all the forage grown. Fertilizer should be applied according to soils test recommendations. But in the absence of a soils test, and where phosphate and potash are needed, use 60 pounds each of nitrogen, phosphate and potash per acre. Additional nitrogen should be applied in around six weeks.

You can cut hay from any grazing that gets ahead of the cattle. Rotational grazing will help you to harvest all the grass produced.

FERTILIZE FOR SILAGE

Corn or sorghum grown for silage needs special fertilizer. Anytime the whole crop is removed for silage or hay, a lot more plant nutrients are removed than when only the grain is harvested.

A good fertilizer ratio to use is a 4-1-2 of nitrogen, phosphate and potash. Without a soils test, increase the nitrogen 50 percent and double the potash rate that you would use for grain production alone.

Homemakers Plan Dress Review

Plans for the annual dress review and state Homemaker's golden anniversary to be held May 12 at the Agriculture Center were discussed Friday afternoon at a meeting of the Hancock County Homemakers Council. All past Hancock County Council presidents will be honored at this time. Mrs. H.W. Duke, president, who conducted the business session, said the public is invited.

The "pine needle" workshop under the direction of Mrs. Ida Whitney was discussed. Mrs. Vivian Moffett was elected State Council delegate with Miss Dixie Parker, Extension Economist. They will attend June 12, 13 and 14 at Mississippi State University. The next Council meeting will be held in September.

How to Buy an Air Conditioner

Buying a room air conditioner is not a difficult task. However, the air conditioning experts at Whirlpool Corporation advise you to know the following facts before you shop:

1. Area to be cooled. A bedroom, den, or several rooms?
2. Size of each room (height, length and width). Include connecting hallways if more than one room is to be cooled.
3. Direction each room faces. If a room receives hot afternoon sun, it will require more cooling than a room receiving little or no sun.
4. Windows. Some air conditioners have installation kits that fit various window styles. Units designed for basement windows, for example, are shaped differently from those for double-hung windows.
5. Room insulation. If the room above acts as an insulator, as less cooling is required. If the room can be closed off, less cooling is required also.
6. Electrical requirements. Some units operate on ordinary household current (115 volts); others require special wiring (230 volts). Many 115-volt units require only 7 1/2 amps, which means they use less electricity and, therefore, cost less to operate. If you don't know the electrical voltage in your home, consult an electrician before you purchase an air conditioner.
7. With this information, the salesman will be able to determine the cooling capacity you need and the best unit to do the job. The cooling capacity of air conditioners is expressed in terms of BTUs; the more BTUs, the higher the capacity.

For example, with variable fan speeds, you can select a high speed for daytime cooling and low speed for quiet nighttime cooling; with a thermostat, you can set a temperature range that the unit maintains automatically; you can direct the airflow up, down, or to either side.

The most important thing to remember is to buy the correct size air conditioner. Don't buy a larger one than you need because it won't be as efficient. An air conditioner that is way too large pulls down the temperature too quickly and doesn't have time to remove the moisture from the air. That's the room is clammy. But don't buy one too small either, because it can't do an adequate cooling job.

Trumpets In The Morning

by Perry D. Noel, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis

The church is a divine-human institution. It was established by Jesus during His earthly ministry, but it is made up of people who are believers in Christ. It is empowered by the Holy Spirit of God for the work of the Kingdom of God, but that work is accomplished through the lives of those in whom the Holy Spirit dwells.

Because of this dual nature of the church it demonstrates divine power and human weakness, both at the same time. Paul said, "We hold this precious treasure in earthen vessels, in clay hands, to show that the transcendent power belongs to God and not to us."

The work of God is accomplished by the power of Christ through human instrumentality. This should encourage us to give ourselves

Bake Pineapple Pie

Pineapple has always been one of the most traveled of tropical fruits. But now with very rapid transit, it comes to us even fresher and sweeter, for it can be more nearly ripe when shipped.

Fresh pineapple makes excellent pies. Every good cook's file should include a recipe for fresh pineapple pie.

Fresh Pineapple Pie

1 recipe double crust pastry for (9-inch) pie

1/2 cup sugar

2 tablespoons corn starch

1/4 teaspoon salt

2 1/2 cups water

1/4 cup lemon juice

1 medium pineapple, pared and sliced (about 3 1/2 cups)

Milk

Buns

Mix together sugar, corn starch and salt in 2 quart saucepan. Stir in water, lemon juice and pineapple. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, comes to a boil and boils 2 minutes. Cool to room temperature.

Line the bottom of a 9-inch pie pan with 1/2 of the pastry. Turn pineapple mixture into pastry lined pan. Roll out top crust, cut slits to allow for escape of steam and lay over filling. Seal and trim edges. Brush with milk; sprinkle with sugar. Bake in a 425° F. (hot) oven 30 to 35 minutes or until crust is golden brown.

Women Attempt To Form Altrusa

Bay St. Louis has been selected by Altrusa International, Inc., chief of the women's classified service clubs, for the establishment of an Altrusa Club.

Mrs. Frances Fahey is trying to find people who would classify as members of this club. Altrusa membership comprises one outstanding representative of each classification of business or profession. In this way, Altrusa focuses a diversity of leadership ability on community needs.

According to Mrs. Fahey, establishment of Altrusa here should add a new dimension of voluntary service to this community as Altrusa's planned program calls for a local club's engaging in services to the community. These include job forums for older workers, programs to employ the physically handicapped, safety programs, citizenship classes for immigrants, assistance to recovered mental patients, person-to-person programs and projects for international students and visitors.

Altrusa was founded April 11, 1917 in Nashville, Tenn. Altrusa derived from "Altruism," devoted to the interests of others. Over the years, the club has grown to a membership of 17,000, which includes members in Australia, Bermuda, Canada, Great Britain, Guatemala, India, Ireland, Mexico, New Zealand, the Philippines, Puerto Rico, and the United States.

Two meetings have already been held in Bay St. Louis to lay the "ground-work" for establishing this club.

Another meeting will be held on Thursday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the Gulf National Bank in the club room.

"As a State Senator, I have led the fight to end drug abuse in Mississippi. I have introduced and gained passage of legislation that would strengthen our drug control laws. I have appeared before civic organizations and youth groups to explain the drug problem. As your congressman, I will continue to fight to curb the distribution and sale of dangerous drugs and I will continue to work for the establishment of effective treatment centers for the victims of callous drug peddlers."

Fingernails Need Help

Today, women look younger longer. That's a happy fact of life. But, beware. Hands can be a dead giveaway in all otherwise youthful appearances and, frankly, your age is no one's business but your own.

The secret is care and exercise, just as it is for your body and face. If exercise keeps the rest of you loose, limber and alive, why should it do the same for your hands? The manufacturers of RRP Natural Protein Nail Conditioner, have devised a daily hand-care, beauty program which is easy and fun to follow.

Walnuts anyone? Yes, they are great, says RRP, for exercising hands and fingers. Great for muscle tone. Grasp a walnut in each hand and press and close your fingers around them ten times.

Next, roll them around in the palms of your hands. Another honey of a hand exercise is the RRP "BRAIN BAC" BOUNCE. Toss the ball into the air and catch it with your right hand, ten times. Repeat for left hand. Also, grasp the bean bag with great vigor first with one, then with the other hand, opening and closing your fingers ten times each.

The complete RRP hand exercise program follows: Grasp a walnut in each hand and press and close your fingers around them ten times. Next, roll them around in the palms of your hands. downtown Houston. The acreage was assembled by Leslie Appelt from the firm of Appelt, Robean, Womack, Inc. of Houston, and has a mile and a half of frontage on the 10,000-surface acre Lake Houston, plus one-half mile of frontage on the San Jacinto River, which is navigable from the property to the Gulf of Mexico. The unusual access to both fresh and salt water makes this site a rare one. "NEWPORT" can be reached by FM 1960 or Highway 90 and is only 30 minutes in driving time from downtown Houston.

The "NEWPORT" clubhouse, when completed, will be in excess of 50,000 sq. ft. and cost over $2-1/2 million to construct. The "NEWPORT" master plan provides for three 18-hole championship golf courses, two marinas, one fresh water and one salt water, riding stables, swim and tennis club plus numerous recreation centers throughout the project, most of which will also have pools. The "NEWPORT" plan provides for over 15,000 homesites, and will feature a broad mix of residential options ranging from "second homes" that can be used for weekend or summer vacations to condominiums and permanent first homes. Mr. Maurer said that homesites at "NEWPORT" will range in price from $2,500 to $25,000.

Diamondhead is a Delaware corporation with its headquarters located in Mountainside, New Jersey. While the company is extensively engaged in the development of planned residential resort type communities, it also has other interests in the field of home manufacturing and operates a factory at Brookley Field in Mobile, Alabama from which it ships manufactured homes by barge to its various water oriented developments. In addition to this, Diamondhead Corporation operates a Medical Products Division with a manufacturing facility at Mayaguez, Puerto Rico.

THIS YEAR, FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE 1932, WE'LL ELECT A NEW CONGRESSMAN.

AND IN 1972 WE NEED A NEW KIND OF CONGRESSMAN.

After all, a lot of things have changed since Hoover and Roosevelt slugged it out for the presidency. Mississippi, for one. The Congress, for another.

With the growth of the national government during the last forty years the decisions our representatives make in Washington have come to affect each of us more rapidly, more directly than ever before.

And the continuing acceleration of change in America has led voters to begin sending a new breed of men to serve in Congress. Better informed, more decisive men—like Judge Howard Patterson.

Judge Patterson's position on Mississippi's Tenth Chancery Court calls for him to make decisions every day, all alone, that affect the lives of others. And that responsibility has taught him to listen to others. Responsibility has bred responsiveness.

Above all, our congressman must be responsive to our wishes and opinions. And that quality, above all, is what distinguishes Judge Patterson's candidacy from all the rest: he listens more than he lectures.

On June 5th, when we vote for a new congressman, let's vote for a new kind of congressman as well.

Howard Patterson. He'll listen. And we can trust him.

A lot of folks were disappointed over the weekend due to the high winds and tides which were 35 miles, an abnormal high tide which didn't fall until about 4 p.m. They could not fish, go soft crabbing, hard crabbing or ski. Those going out to the marsh had a rough trip on account of the rough seas. Fishing along the seawall was impossible. A few fresh water fish were caught in inland bayous and lakes, very few.

Hard crabs are beginning to show up. Some were caught last week when conditions were right. Floundering was also out.

The fishing pier at the American Legion location on Washington Street and the Beach is proving more popular all the time. Last week it was crowded with local and other fishermen who caught some speckles, red fish, croakers, flounders and other salt water fish. Among some noted fishing were lady anglers, Mrs. Camille Schwartz, Mrs. Olga Adam, Mrs. Julia Leddy, Mrs. Vivian Kech and Mrs. E. J. Nelson. These ladies are experts at catching fish and crabs. They go on every occasion.

Some of the men folks seen were John Monti, Judge Homes, Morris Miller, Ray Garner, Dec Elliott and Eddie Blaise.

St. Stanislaus Pier was a busy place all week with students getting their share of speckle trout and other salt water fish.

Speckles last week were caught along both the railroad and Hi-way bridges and at the mouth of Jourdan River, and some at both ends of the seawall.

Kerry D. Criles was the guest of Robert Von Ehren, his grandfather a couple of days. Kerry is a member of the fishing organization BASS at St. Louis where he is in the U.S. Army. He will train as an Army Food Inspector in Chicago. Plans to make the service a career. Not only enjoys catching fish but loves eating them. Kerry did some fishing while here. Praised the Gulf Coast and expects to come down whenever possible while on leave to fish here.

Met Mike Tingston, a M & P Railroad conductor. Mike is quite a fisherman and does most of his fishing at 4 Bayous and Lake Hermitage in Louisiana. Has been fishing all his life, he claims.

Read where the cost of a duck stamp has been increased to $5. Every duck hunter who has reached his 10th birthday is required to have a duck stamp and hunting license or hunting permit. It costs plenty now to go duck hunting. With the price of shells, the proper boat, licenses and duck stamps think there will be a number of duck hunters going to fishing. It's cheaper and more fun, we think.

If you are looking for a golf tournament to play in, the 57th Miss. Golf Assn. State Amateur Championship to be held at the Hickory Hill Country Club near Pascagoula will be held on June 7-11. The tourney will be limited to 192 players. The entry deadline is June 2nd. The entry fee is $25.00 and covers entertainment events for the golfers and their wives or dates as well as links activities.

Jake Evans is one of our most ardent fishermen. Jake has a home off Watts Bayou. Has a boat and enjoys outside fishing, catching specks, reds, etc. Had a trip planned for the weekend.

Game Wardens are on the prowl over in Louisiana. Better have that Louisiana license if you fish in that State. They are all good fellows but have a job to do.

but had to be called off. Emile Piazza is his fishing partner.

OFFSHORE ISLANDS ARE FOR THE BIRDS
Some of the best saltwater fishing to be found along the Gulf Coast is found in and around the offshore Breton and Chandeleur Islands. Each year several hundred, perhaps even thousands, of fishermen make their way out to these islands to either surf fish or fish the adjacent oil rigs. Other than the fact that these islands have historically attracted fish and fishermen alike, there is a lesser known, though just as important, aspect of these offshore islands. These islands are the principal nesting areas for thousands of our more common water birds.

Each spring thousands of birds, consisting mostly of terns, gulls, and black skimmers, return to these islands to nest and rear their young. Since these islands are so far offshore and are so short on the necessities required by land bound animals, these ground nesting birds have not had much to fear from nest predators in the past.

But these times of affluence and locomotion have changed that situation, and man has emerged as the disrupting factor in this nesting process. Breton and Chandeleur islands make up the Breton National Wildlife Refuge. These islands have been set aside as a national wildlife refuge for the purpose of protecting and preserving these islands for thousands of nesting colonial birds, for nesting sea turtles, and for wintering waterfowl which use the shallow shoal waters of these islands.

Another objective of this national wildlife refuge is to provide saltwater fishing opportunities for pleasure seekers. However, not all of man's activities are consistent with the tranquility required for a successful nesting colony, and some restrictions are necessary to make this joint use of these islands by man and birds a workable thing.

So if you or yours are contemplating a trip to the Breton and Chandeleur Islands, please bear in mind and abide by these regulations; these islands are for day use only - no overnight camping; certain sections of the islands containing nesting colonies will be marked by signs and closed to any kind of use at any time; land vehicles such as motorcycles, trail bikes, airplanes, dune buggies, etc. are strictly prohibited; molesting wild animals or their nest, use of firearms, and littering are also prohibited.

Wop Glover was over from New Orleans visiting his friends. Among them Norman Benigno and Yours Truly. Looks like a fishing trip is in the making.

M. F. Cass came down from Hattiesburg Tuesday for a few days fishing and stayed at his camp on Four Dollar Bayou. There will be plenty fly fishing going on.

Eddie Marquez has been disappointed because he can't go soft crabbing and floundering. Things have got to get right, Eddie.

Sidney F. Miller is waiting to come over to do some fishing and soft crabbing. We are all waiting, Sidney.

Game Wardens are on the prowl over in Louisiana. Better have that Louisiana license if you fish in that State. They are all good fellows but have a job to do.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK

A. E. REMY recently retired from the Sewerage and Water Board in New Orleans, now lives at Pearlington, Miss. A. E. is an ardent fisherman and can get all the fishing he wants at his new location. Both fresh and salt water fish are caught in this area.

Fishermen with Miss. licenses can fish both sides of Pearl River.

Believe it or not there are plenty green trout up Jourdan River. Especially in Bayou La Croix, upper Cut Off, Rotten Bayou and up the main river as far as the Kiln. The tide is the main factor as to whether or not you get 'em. The tide is best when it is falling. Bass and perch are now hitting surface baits.

Croakers, called a common fish, are good eating. They are hitting right now most anywhere. Bottom fishing is bringing best results. Dead or fresh shrimp is the most effective bait.

In our way of thinking high tides and winds (which we have had) bring in clear gulf waters and fish. Outside fishing should improve from now on. The same thing applies to crabs and flounders. Without hard crabs there can't be soft crabs. When soft crabs are up, discretion, take only decent size, the little ones will be bigger ones if left in the water. Get quality instead of quantity.

The Mississippi record for sea-run striped bass now belongs to the Mississippi River. Clyde Gary Norton of Vicksburg recently caught a 17 and three-quarter pound striped from Big Muddy, fishing from the bank with cane pole and minnow.

The fish was caught near Le Tourneau. It was weighed and witnessed at a Vicksburg super market. The striped was 32 and one-half inches long. Large striped bass have been coming from Ross Barnett Reservoir all spring. The state record belonged to this 33,000 acre impoundment before Norton's catch.

Striped bass are scarce in these parts but quite a few have been caught up Jourdan River and in Pearl River. They are a game fish and are excellent for eating. Game and fish agencies of both Miss. and La. are currently involved in a striped stocking program.

A group of fishermen made a trip out to the marshes on Sam Favre's boat Saturday. They were, Bub Gemin, Pat Griffin, Alden Maufrey, Ruble Griffin, John Scaffie, John Hill, Wilson Favre and Sam Favre. They returned Saturday afternoon on account of bad weather.

You and your pet

Traveling With Your Dog

Wondering about taking your pet along on a vacation trip? If this is the dog's first long trip, he should be used to riding in the car, well housebroken for the routine en route, and in good health. A car-sick, unhappy dog would make the trip miserable for both of you. Better to board him with friends who love him or with a clean, well-run boarding kennel.

Let's say your dog, like most, meets the travel test, and you decide to take him. Good! As a member of the family, he deserves to share the fun. All you have to do is include him in the advance planning, and you will all have a good time. Most motels/hotels have pet facilities or allow you to keep the animal with you. But some do not. To avoid frustration, make arrangements before you get to your day's destination. To make this easy, the American Automobile Association has a nice booklet about it. Visit or write your local AAA and request one. Also, be prepared to post a $10 deposit for your pet's good manners in the case of a reluctant in-keeper.

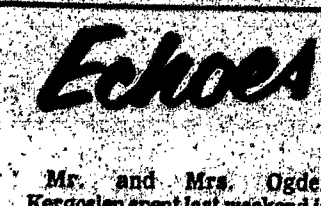

If you're planning a stay in a state park, check in advance for their rule on pets. Unfortunately, many do not allow them.

Some Health Tips
For Canadian travel, make sure your pet's rabies vaccination is up to date; that's a must. Further, most states require some type of health certificate. So, if your trip will cross state lines, better check your veterinarian.

Bring along his own bowl for water and food. Also, a favorite toy or two, and his own sleeping mat for his place in the car and the motel. Little things he's familiar with add to his sense of security.

Remember an opener for his favorite brand of canned dog food. It is best to schedule feedings at least 8 hours before each day's travel. And don't forget such things as a sturdy collar with his I.D. tag (better take a spare with a tag, too); a roll of paper towels; a can of flea powder for unwanted visitors along the way. . . . And have a good time!

Coast Crime Commission Plans First Awards Dinner

The Mississippi Coast Crime Commission will hold its First Annual Awards Dinner at the Sheraton Motor Inn, 7:30 p. m. Friday, May 19, according to Robert O. Rasch, President.

"We are indeed fortunate," said Rasch, "in securing Congressman William M. Colmer as principal speaker for this occasion. Congressman Colmer will share the date with other honored guests including distinguished state and federal officials. Consistent with the theme and purpose of the Crime Commission, sponsored by the MISSISSIPPI CITIZEN INVOLVEMENT WEEK, proclaimed by Governor William L. Waller from May 14 through May 20, 1972, the District Governors of many service organizations including Rotary, Lions, Optimist, Civitan, Kiwanis, and Chambers of Commerce will share the date as honored guests.

"The purpose of the MISSISSIPPI CITIZEN INVOLVEMENT WEEK is twofold," continued Rasch,

"1. To focus recognition and appreciation upon these Service Organizations for their civic and humanitarian contributions to the citizens of Mississippi and the nation.

2. To remind each citizen of the State of Mississippi, and the nation, that he has a continuing responsibility to humanity and his government to perform in a positive and constructive manner to improve our environment in all its facets."

Rasch said that the dinner promises to be a memorable one for the Mississippi Gulf Coast and it is open to the public. Tickets are $10.00 per person and can be purchased at the following locations: all banks and their offices in Hancock and Harrison counties, including First Mississippi National Bank in Gulfport; Coast Federal Savings and Loan Association, including their Gulfport, Edgewater Plaza and Pascagoula offices; Hancock County Chamber of Commerce; Ocean Springs Chamber of Commerce; Pascagoula; or send a check or money order to: Mississippi Coast Crime Commission, P. O. Box 1902, Gulfport.

Rasch concluded by urging all those interested in attending to purchase their tickets early, as facilities will limit the number of tickets sold.

OF HERBS & ESSENCE

It's said history repeats itself. So often the "lowest" things in beauty and hair care come from "way back when." And today, you can recreate some new good old days of your own by borrowing from history's great beauties the secret of their way with fragrance-fragrance from herbs and wildflowers. Though a few years ago, the fabulous Cleopatra reaped the benefits of bathing in and grooming with floral and herbal essences. She not only looked stunning, but her fragrance complemented her appearance, and strong men became willing slaves.

Now, you can be the Queen of the Nile. You can attract your own "Moses" with your delightful, old-fashioned wiles. This is both a new and old secret, and it's yours to use with natural beauty.

For this winning fling with fragrance in Clairol's new Herbal Essence Shampoo, available wherever hair care products are sold. Designed for gals who want to do what comes naturally for that great natural look, this back-to-nature product is blended with the essences of 19 natural herbs and wild flowers, as well as garden-fragrant health-giving proteins (not to mention special conditioners that add shine and body to straight and curly locks).

Juniper... Camomile... Melissa... Mountain Ginseng are just a few of the beautiful herbs and flowers that make up Clairol's Herbal Essence Shampoo. It's a new way to look and feel beautiful. Clairol's Herbal Essence Shampoo is available wherever hair care products are sold.

Community Mental Health

COASTAL MENTAL HEALTH CLINIC

All teachers reflect in their teaching their basic attitudes concerning the purpose of education and the processes of learning. Although a teacher may not claim to follow a particular theory of education, most teaching attitudes and practices found today reflect one or more basic educational philosophies.

Parents are often concerned when their children may have a teacher who always assigns homework, or a teacher who never expects home assignments. They may also wonder why one teacher gives tests every week while another encourages projects.

Parent's understanding of the teachers' basic educational philosophies and learning theories can enable parents to understand what their children's teachers are attempting to accomplish and to be more constructive in their criticisms of their school systems.

In the early days of schools in this country learning was generally held to be a process of disciplining or training minds. Drilling and rote learning were considered necessary to strengthen and improve the mind in the same manner that exercise trains the body muscles. More recent research has disproved this concept, but many traces still remain. Of the two most prominent groups of learning theories today, the first group emphasizes that learning is a conditioned response to stimuli and must be encouraged by adequate and reinforced motivation. Expanded learning is developed through appropriate drilling and rote learning. A second school of learning theory emphasizes the necessity of understanding and intellectual interpretation of sensory experiences in the learning process. Contemporary education tends to emphasize that the purpose of schools is not solely to develop the mind, but, rather, schools should provide a reflective experience in solving problems and furthering a democratic society. A number of differences can be observed between traditional and progressive schools. Traditional classrooms tend to be highly organized and systematic. Routine and formality are emphasized and detailed records are kept of each student's abilities and achievements. The teacher is authoritative and has the final voice in all matters. Teacher activities include lectures, demonstrations, and scholarly activity. Much importance is attached to homework, assigned problems and standard examinations. Rote learning, memory work, written exercises, and recitations are stressed, with all learning activities planned by the teacher well in advance. Test scores are considered as the most important measure of success. The attitude of the traditional teacher tends to reflect his concern with status, the correctness of the position he takes on classroom matters, and the subject matter to be covered rather than in terms of what the pupil needs, feels, knows, and can do.

Progressive classrooms are less formally organized and may be considered as a flexible laboratory for solving problems in contemporary living. Materials and equipment are readily accessible and are to be used at each student's discretion. Major emphasis is placed upon problem-solving activities and projects with the teacher acting as a guide who shares in the learning activities. The teacher plans activities in advance but allows for student-oriented additions and deviations. Discipline is managed as a learning experience in the functions of the democratic processes with regulations governing conduct and activities formulated by the teacher and the students.

Allowances are made for student views and attitudes. Tests are used to give the teacher an indication of subject areas to emphasize and not as a sole criterion of achievement. The attitude of the progressive teacher is one of teacher and pupil working together in a social atmosphere of cooperative endeavor, and an intense interest in the work of the day. There is an atmosphere of freedom to think, act, and speak one's mind with mutual respect for the feelings, rights, and abilities of others.

Traditionally-oriented educators generally believe that schools exist to provide for students' needs through intellectual discipline and that the community should not interfere in the school curriculum or operations. They feel that the quality of education would be improved by increased emphasis on intellectual discipline and that today's students are not required to do enough work.

More progressive educators put a greater value on social needs and believe that educators should take an active part in working with other groups in the community in order to bring new educational programs to the schools and to update and improve existing traditional programs to help prepare students for a meaningful role in society.

DARWIN M. MAPLES

Maples Announces For Court

Circuit Judge Darwin M. Maples takes this means to announce his candidacy to the Voters of Hancock County for the Mississippi Supreme Court, Southern District seat, in the June 6 Democratic primary.

Maples is completing 10 years as circuit judge of the 10th Judicial District which includes Jackson, George and Greene counties.

The 46-year-old candidate is a native of George County. He served in the Mississippi House of Representatives and as Apollo-Saturn V second stage George County prosecuting attorney.

He was educated at the University of Southern Mississippi and University of Mississippi School of Law and is a graduate of the National College of State Trial Judges.

Maples was admitted to the bar in 1952 and began the general practice of law in Lumberton. He is a member of local, state and American Bar Associations of the American Judicature Society.

He has served as a member of the Ethics Committee of the state bar association, and has taken part in many seminars and conferences on state and national levels.

He was appointed by other members of the state judiciary to serve on the Mississippi Judicial Study Commission which made a survey of problems facing the courts of Mississippi.

At present, he is chairman of the resolutions committee of the National Conference of State Trial Judges.

He considers a highlight of his career his receiving, in 1968, a personal commendation from J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, for the manner in which he conducted his court "in keeping with the highest principles of American Judiciary."

He is a member of the Methodist Church and is active in Masonic bodies. He is a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason. Judge Maples is married and has two sons.

The Scouting movement has been one of Maples' great interests and he has been active in Scouting programs on local and district level.

"My own, in this race is made after much prayerful consideration of the responsibilities and opportunities for service involved in becoming a member of your Supreme Court," Maples said.

"As a circuit judge, I have endeavored at all times to be completely fair and impartial in the trial of every case and to render to every man his just due without distinction; I am completely committed to the idea that the high and low and the rich and poor are all entitled to the same type of justice in our courts."

"Our Supreme Court is a most vital part of our state government," the jurist said. "I know that I can serve you with honesty and I sincerely believe that I can serve you with honor and distinction."

MTF Welcomes Student Groups

Science students from across the Mississippi Gulf Coast participated in two, separate full day educational seminars last week at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Mississippi Test Facility (MTF).

Their activities immediately followed a detailed MTF presentation afforded Jerald A. Derkaz of Warwick, Rhode Island, representing his state at the International Science and Engineering Fair being staged at that time in New Orleans, La.

MTF hosted 52 students and three faculty members of St. Stanislaus High School Bay St. Louis (May 3). They were welcomed by Henry F. Auter, MTF deputy director, and then presented a general MTF activities review by Ken R. Daughtrey of NASA.

The multi-disciplinary approach now being applied at MTF by various federal and state government agencies collected on site to national and regional environmental problems occupied the remaining time. MTF is part of the NASA Marshall Space Flight Center.

The students were addressed by Commanders W. F. Merlin and W. M. Flanders on the National Data Buoy Center's (NDBC) operations. The NDBC is a part of the National Ocean Survey, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Department of Commerce. They were later given a tour of the facility and "on-location" briefing.

Other speakers were Dr. D. W. Strasburg of the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), also a NOAA element, Department of Commerce, who outlined both the NMFS function at MTF and, in an afternoon field trip, the workings of a salt water impoundment tank built inside the former of Representatives and as Apollo-Saturn V second stage rocket Vertical Checkout Building (VCB); and Dr. Verne Schneider of the Gulf Coast University of Southern Mississippi.

Public Invited To 'Christmas Tree' Burning Friday

Richard Fayard, Bay St. Louis Fire Chief, has announced that the public is invited to watch the "Christmas Tree burning," scheduled for Friday night, 8 p.m., behind Bay Senior High School.

The burning, which is not a Christmas tree at all, will be the culmination of the four-day specialized fire training school in progress at the Bay Fire Training School under the supervision of James S. Hart, commander of the State Fire Training School in Jackson. The demonstration Friday night will enable fire personnel from all Coastal fire departments to participate in the suppression of a liquid petroleum fire, reputedly the most hazardous and difficult fire to suppress.

Nolan Kingston, manager of Blossman Gas, will provide the fuel for the burning.

VOTE FOR CORNELIUS J. LADNER

CANDIDATE FOR
CHANCERY JUDGE,
PLACE THREE OF THE EIGHTH DISTRICT
HANCOCK, HARRISON AND
STONE COUNTIES

TO THE CITIZENS OF HANCOCK, HARRISON AND STONE COUNTIES

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Office of Judge of the Chancery Court of the Eighth District, Hancock, Harrison, and Stone Counties.

This new Judgeship of the Chancery Court for Place Three was created by the Mississippi Legislature this year so that the People's Business would be done more quickly since there is too much work for the two Judges we now have in this Office.

I have entered this race for the new Judgeship after much thought and consideration of the serious responsibilities and great opportunities for services to the people and lawyers of the Eighth District of the Chancery Court.

I am 52 years old, a graduate of Dedeaux School in 1935, St. Stanislaus College in 1939, Pearl River Junior College in 1941, then served in the United States Army from 1941 to 1943, with service in the Southwest Pacific, then entered the University of Mississippi in 1944 and graduated from the Ole-Miss Law School in 1948. I was elected State Senator in 1947 and served from 1948 to 1952 and did not offer for re-election. After graduating from the University of Mississippi School of Law, I opened my law office in Bay Saint Louis and have practice there continuously, practicing in all the Courts of the State of Mississippi, the U. S. District Court and the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeal.

I am married to the former Bonnelle Price and we have four children, I am a Catholic and I am active in my church, PTA work and Civic and Veterans Organizations. I am the son of the late Sylvest Ladner of Dedeaux and Octavia Koennn Ladner who is now 90 years old.

I am qualified by education, a graduate of Ole-Miss Law School in 1948. I am tempered by experience and age, 24 years of general practice and 52 years of age. I am dedicated to the principal that the People's business must be done more quickly for justice to be done.

This special election will be on the 21st day of June 1972. I am requesting your help and asking you to Vote for me. There is not enough time to see all of the people but through this means, I am soliciting your Vote and Help because I will make you an able and capable Chancery Judge.

SUBMITTED TO YOU THE PEOPLE
Cornelius J. Ladner for Chancery Judge

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Nobody's Child"

Right now, roughly one American baby in 10 is being born out of wedlock. Together, these children form yet another "minority" group in our society—the illegitimates. Do they too have constitutional rights? Does the Constitution guarantee them equal treatment, just as it does to racial and religious minorities? The common law had a scornful name for anyone born to an unwed woman: filius nullius—"nobody's child." For centuries, such children labored under severe legal handicaps.

However, a recent decision by the United States Supreme Court has taken a giant step toward equalizing their status.

The case arose when five illegitimate children sought damages for the wrongful death of their mother in a hospital. Under state law, illegitimate children had no right to make this kind of a claim.

But the Court disregarded the state law and ruled that the children's claim must be allowed. The Court said it was unfair to penalize them for a characteristic over which they had no control. In its decision, the Court recalled the anguish of an illegitimate son in King Lear.

"Why bastard, wherefore base?"

Does this ruling mean that from now on, illegitimate children will have exactly the same rights as legitimate children?

Not necessarily. In one case, the question was whether an illegitimate son had the right to be supported by his father. The court said yes, because to rule otherwise would be to "cast the burden upon the innocent child."

But in another case, the question was whether an illegitimate child was automatically entitled to the same inheritance rights as a legitimate child.

This time, the answer was no. The court said that, just as inheritance laws could favor sons over grandsons or first cousins over second cousins, so they could favor legitimate children over illegitimate children.

Discrimination is lawful if it has some reasonable purpose, said the court, and discouraging illegitimacy is a reasonable purpose.

An American Bar Association public service feature by Will Bernard.

Last To Die

Husband and wife both perish in an automobile accident. Seemingly, they die at the same time. Yet, if one has outlived the other even for an instant, that may make an enormous difference to their heirs. It may decide whether the husband's relatives or the wife's relatives inherit the estate.

Accordingly, in this "common disaster" situation, strenuous efforts are often made to figure out which of the two victims was the last to die.

In a recent case, double deaths occurred when a speeding truck rammed into the passenger side of a car. Both husband and wife died instantly.

But since the wife—sitting on the passenger side—had been struck first, a court concluded that the husband must have lived a fraction of a second longer. By this split second, the wife's relatives lost out on their claim to a share of the estate.

With common disasters becoming more frequent, many kinds of evidence have been found useful in deciding who died last. Anything from the position of the bodies to their physical condition may provide the telltale clue.

On the other hand, there may be no evidence at all, good enough to be trusted in the courtroom.

In another case, a mother and daughter were found dead of asphyxiation. The only "evidence" as to which one died last was that the daughter probably held out longer because she was younger.

But a court said this was plain guesswork, and turned down a claim put forth by relatives of the daughter.

Suppose the victims really did die simultaneously (or, at least, no one can prove otherwise). To cover this situation, most states have passed a Simultaneous Death Act. This Act lays down specific rules to settle the various conflicting claims that may arise.

A better solution in many cases is to have a "simultaneous death clause" tailored to your individual wishes, included in your will. In these days of high-speed transportation, such a contingency is well worth taking into account.

Your Breakable
Diamond

Diamond is the hardest substance known. Nothing can scratch it. A scratch test is used to measure relative hardness. On the Mohs Scale of Hardness, diamond is on top because it scratches anything lower. Sapphire is next. It can scratch topaz, the next hardest. At the bottom, Mohs placed talc, which won't even scratch a baby's skin.

Does this legendary hardness mean that diamond is impervious to harm? Regrettably, no! A famous scene in a romantic movie of the forties had the newlyweds-etch their initials on the window of their honeymoon cottage. Their etching tool was the lady's engagement ring. Knowing jewelers gasped. Yes, Diamond will scratch glass, but subjecting the stone to this abuse could easily cause it to chip or crack.

Your diamond should be treated with some degree of caution. It may be exceedingly hard (resistance to scratching) but it isn't exceedingly tough (resistance to blows). Jade is softer, but it is tougher. A jade ring would probably survive a hard knock against a brass, faceted doorknob with only a scratch. Given the same treatment, a diamond wouldn't scratch, but it could chip or fracture.

In old age, Queen Elizabeth I had to have her coronation ring filed from her finger. Some newlywed and newly engaged women feel as strongly about their diamond rings. But, diamonds should not be exposed to the same abuse as working hands. A diamond will survive constant wear on the finger of the normal, American woman without a scratch. But that same diamond would probably not survive without being chipped. CARE FOR THE JEWELS YOU CARE FOR is a brochure published by the American Gem Society. It's free. If you want it, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope. You will also be sent a listing that will locate your nearest AGS jeweler.

WHAT'S A HOUSEWIFE
TO DO?
BY JULIE FONTAINE

Learn Which To Which
Washday is tomorrow and you're out of detergent. You go to your favorite supermarket and head for the laundry products section. Nothing to it, right? Wrong! Your eye do a doubletake. The only laundry products on the shelves are relatively unknown or bear the store name where you're shopping. All of them contain phosphate-free on their label. Unthinkable? Not really. This was the situation faced by many a housewife on the first shopping day of 1972, in Dade County, Florida, where legislation prohibiting the sale of phosphate detergents was enacted to prevent the pollution of the waterways. The first thought might have been panic and a refusal to buy. But, as the laundry pile grew, they were literally forced to use the phosphate-free products. Reluctantly at first, because they were afraid the product wouldn't do the family wash properly. They also feared it would ruin the clothes and strain the family budget even more. To their surprise and delight, the first wash gave no indication that the washing powder had been changed. Their routine shopping habits and costs had been altered. Subsequent launderings bore out the "no difference" confirmation from the various laboratory tests that had been conducted. "Consumer Reports" listed some of these phosphate-free products as "good to very good." Even in areas where they have not as yet enacted laws prohibiting the sale of phosphates, many a housewife is now using these phosphate-free products regularly. Instead of phosphates, these incorporate washing soda, the long-time friend and aid to the housewife and the results are twofold - a good clean bright wash and a good clean outlook for our lakes and rivers.

The boat will stop in Jamaica and other Caribbean ports on the way to Barbados where fresh produce and other saleable cargo will be taken aboard.

Mrs. Thomas-Hall will return to the States by plane within a few weeks, but the others will remain in the tropics for several months.
